Tetanus is a serious bacterial infection that can be spread by animal bites. Accordingly, and given that working in close proximity to and handling animals is an intrinsic function of the role for which you have applied, it is very important that your tetanus vaccination (which lasts for ten years) is up to date. Please confirm below whether this is the case.

Yes _____ No _____ Date of Last Vaccination: _____

The work can be very active and involves bending and lifting. In particular, lifting and handling animals and heavy items such as bags of feed and bedding materials and cleaning cages at different heights are intrinsic functions of the role for which you have applied.

Please indicate below whether you have any medical condition(s) which may prevent you from carrying out these intrinsic functions, e.g. bad back.

Please also indicate if you consider that there are any reasonable adjustments which could be made to allow you to carry out these intrinsic functions, notwithstanding your medical condition(s).

Reasonable Adjustments Required:

The work involves working with lots of different species of animals, handling feed and bedding materials such as hay and straw and cleaning cages with appropriate chemical substances; all of which are intrinsic functions for the role. Latex gloves are also usually worn by our staff.

Please indicate below whether you have any medical condition or any phobia or allergies that may be relevant to this position.

Please also indicate if you consider that there are any reasonable adjustments which could be made to allow you to carry out these intrinsic functions, notwithstanding your medical condition, phobia or allergy.
